

CAUSED SENSATION IN DREYFUS TRIAL

Charavoy Reaches an Opposite Opinion.

NOW THINKS ESTERHAZY WROTE THE BORDEREAU.

Examined Sample of the Prisoner's Handwriting in '94 and Saw a Resemblance in the Famous Document, but Later Changed His Mind as to the Author—Experts Seem to Be Deserting Bertillon Like a Sinking Ship—Goudard Admits That Esterhazy Had a Facile Pen.

Rennes, Aug. 28.—[Special]—The first session of the fourth week of the Dreyfus court-martial opened at the usual hour this morning. The session was given over to the handwriting experts, two of whom testified that Dreyfus did not write the bordereau, but Esterhazy was the author of the document. The experts seem to be deserting Bertillon like a sinking ship.

The first sensation was caused when M. Charavoy took the stand. He was one of the experts of the original trial who then testified that Dreyfus wrote the bordereau. Charavoy furnished a great surprise when he announced today that he had now reached exactly the opposite opinion. He said: "After examining a sample of Dreyfus' handwriting given me in '94, I found resemblance between them and the writing of the bordereau, but later I saw some of Esterhazy's which I examined thoroughly and then changed my mind as to the author of the bordereau. Now I believe that Esterhazy and not Dreyfus, wrote it."

This delivered impressively caused a sensation in the court room.

Expert Pelletier followed Charavoy with similar testimony. He said he was sure the bordereau was Esterhazy's handwriting.

Expert Goudard denied that Esterhazy wrote the bordereau, but admitted, replying to Demange, that he had a facile pen and that there were some words in the bordereau which he might have traced.

Vernard, another expert, declared that Esterhazy did not write the bordereau. Then the court adjourned for today.

The conflicting evidence of these experts has the effect of discrediting all expert testimony.

To Examine Du Paty de Clam. Rennes, Aug. 28.—[Special]—Jouaust, the president of the Dreyfus court-martial today consented to have Du Paty de Clam, who is alleged to be sick at Paris, examined by a special commission.

Jouaust also announced that De Freycient, who resigned his portfolio last May, would testify tomorrow.

Paris, Aug. 28.—A semi-official note issued last evening makes the following announcement:

"The statistical section of the general staff bureau at the war office no longer concerns itself with espionage questions, which are now properly confined to the defective service. The statistical section is specially concerned with the relations of the war office to French military attaches abroad."

It is an important change that is recorded in the foregoing dispatch, and one that is directly the outcome of the Dreyfus case. It is also a concession to public opinion, to which the idea of officers being employed in work that is usually considered dirty was abhorrent.

Mercier May Be Arrested. Rennes, Aug. 28.—The government has decided to prosecute the Eclair for the publication of the "Canaille de Dreyfus" document, one of the four documents secretly communicated to the Dreyfus court-martial of 1894, and which has been shown not to refer to Capt. Dreyfus at all. The object of the government is to discover who communicated it to the Eclair.

It is rumored that the government has also decided to arrest Gen. Mercier, but the rumor is not confirmed. A report was in circulation that Gen. Mercier had fled to the island of Jersey, but this story proved to be without foundation.

Court-Martial Goes On. Rennes, Aug. 28.—Gen. Mercier was present as usual in the front row of witnesses' seats when the fourth week of the court-martial trial of Capt. Dreyfus was begun this morning. M. Jafay-Laval, the draughtsman, whose testimony was begun Saturday, continued with the aid of a blackboard his refutation of the arguments of M. Bertillon.

Schneider Goes to Explain. Vienna, Aug. 28.—Col. Schneider, Austrian military attaché at Paris, has arrived here. It is believed that the object of his visit is to report to his superiors upon the document purporting to have been written by him, which was produced at the Dreyfus court-martial.

Burned by an Oil Explosion.

Whiting, Ind., Aug. 28.—A destructive fire occurred in the oil refinery of the Standard Oil company at this place Sunday evening. Still No. 5 on the first battery of the crude sweeteners sprung a leak and this was the starting point of the fire. A great puff of burning oil and gas shot out into the face of Stephen Wilkins, the tender. His clothing caught fire and he was seriously burned about the face and lower limbs. He is now at the point of death. The fire spread rapidly to the adjoining stills, and to add to the danger storage tank No. 29 took fire and exploded. The flames completely wrecked the battery engine room and wrecked the receiving house. The loss will be at least $25,000.

DROPS DEAD AT BELOIT

Sudden Demise of Henry Hayford, An Old Resident—Dedication of Gridley Chapel.

Beloit, Wis., Aug. 28.—[Special]—Henry Hayford, a resident of this city for twenty-four years, dropped dead Saturday afternoon at his home on Bluff street. Mr. Hayford has been in poor health for several years. The cause of his death is thought to be heart failure. Mr. Hayford was born in Champaign, New York, August 24, 1815 and celebrated his eighty-fourth birthday last Thursday. He was night watchman for many years at the old Rock River paper mills. Besides a wife he leaves three children: A. D. Hayford of Morrowville, Neb., W. H. Hayford of this city and Miss Lottie Hayford, for several years a teacher in the city schools. The funeral will take place this afternoon from the house.

The police of this city have been greatly annoyed the last few days by the conduct of Mrs. Edward Sheldrick. The woman has been drunk for some days, and Saturday her husband had her arrested for assaulting him, and has begun divorce proceedings on the grounds of drunkenness and inhuman treatment. The couple have been married but a short time, and had a very pleasant home on the corner of Woodward and Prairie avenues, and the case is a sad one.

The dedication of Gridley chapel took place yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The invocation was by Rev. T. De Witt Peake; scripture lesson, Psalm 84, by Rev. F. J. Mallett; the hymn entitled, "Coronation," No. 104 by Rev. E. Scheutle, D. D.; memorial address by President James W. Strong, D. D. The statement for the donor with presentation of the keys was by Mrs. J. H. Strong. Responsive reading by Rev. W. W. Sleeper. The prayer of dedication was by Rev. Geo. E. Leavitt, D. D. Brief addresses were given by several pastors of the city. Charles Kelsey, missionary of the American Sunday School union; Dr. Wm. F. Brown, formerly Presbyterian Synodical missionary for Wisconsin; Dr. Homer W. Carter, secretary of Wisconsin Home Missionary society.

This chapel was erected by Wm. B. Strong of this city in Strong's new addition in memory of his father Elijah Strong and it is non-sectarian. A large crowd was in attendance and the addresses were fine.

NO SURPRISE AT THE WAR DEPARTMENT

LACK OF LOYALTY AMONG THE FILIPINOS.

Secretary Root Accepts Their Treachery as Another Proof That More Troops Are Needed in the Philippines—A Tendency to Make Policy Much Less Lenient.

Washington, Aug. 28.—[Special]—The news from the Philippines showing the treachery of the natives trusted and placed in prominent positions by the Americans, occasioned no surprise in the war department.

Recent developments have convinced the officials of the folly of looking for loyalty among the natives at this time. Secretary Root accepts the situation as another proof that more troops are needed in the Philippines.

It is believed that the reports will have a tendency to make the policy of the Americans much less lenient.

Manila, Aug. 28, via Hongkong, Aug. 28.—Recent events have proved somewhat discouraging to officials who are trying to accompany war with a policy of conciliation. Two new municipal governments have collapsed through the treachery of the mayors.

Sunday the mayor of San Pedro Macati, who was elected by the people under the direction of Prof. Dean Worcester of the United States advisory commission for the Philippines, was brought to Manila and lodged in jail. The United States officers at San Pedro Macati found that he was using his office as a recruiting station for the Philippine army. Four disguised insurgent officers were helping him.

The mayor of Ballang was also arrested and confined in the same prison. The Americans caught him passing between the lines of the two armies with incriminating documents, which the authorities secured. Another prominent mayor is under surveillance.

Such events and conditions tend to give color to the assertions of foreign residents acquainted with the native character, who insist that a great majority of the natives sympathize with the insurgents and elect officials whom they know to be revolutionists.

For two weeks Manila has been policed at night with unusual vigilance. Apparently the authorities are expecting trouble. The trend of affairs tends to make the policy of leniency unpopular among the Americans. When they abandoned Morong they burned the whole town.

A JEALOUS HUSBAND SHOT WIFE AND SELF

TERRIBLE CRIME OF WM. MORAN AT MARSHFIELD.

Thomas Good Murdered For His Money at Madison—Body of Well Known Farmer Found in a Grove Near the Capital City—News From Badgerdom.

Marshfield, Wis., Aug. 28.—William Moran, a fireman on the Northwestern road, at 7 o'clock yesterday morning shot his wife twice through the head and then turned the revolver on himself. Both were instantly killed.

A week ago Mrs. Moran had begun proceedings for divorce, charging cruelty, and the double tragedy was because she would not consent to withdraw the suit. He had also been insanely jealous of her, making accusations of intimacy with other men, and then, it is said, beating and choking her unmercifully. The couple have four children, the oldest of which is a girl of fourteen years.

Two weeks ago Moran packed up his clothes and left the house, and has since lived at a railroad boarding house. Yesterday morning when the two young children came down stairs about 7 o'clock, they saw their father sitting in a rocker with his shoes off, and they ran back to tell their mother.

This was what he had been waiting for. He could not get up stairs on account of the door being locked, the entire family having slept on the second floor through fear, since the trouble began. Moran went to his wife's room where she was still in bed, and began a quarrel with her, making threats as to what he would do if she did not withdraw the divorce suit against him.

The oldest girl realizing from former experience that violence was to be expected, hurriedly dressed and ran to a neighbor's house for assistance. Before reaching the house on her return she heard several shots fired, and ran to her mother's room, passing Moran at the head of the stairs as he was reloading his revolver. She found her mother dead and the bed clothes saturated with her blood. Moran went to a garret in the rear of the house and at once shot himself through the brain.

Murdered For His Money.

Madison, Wis., Aug. 28.—The body of Thomas Good, a farmer well known about Madison, was found in a grove of trees just beyond the city limits, at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He had been stabbed in the left side of the chest, the wound extending up through the neck and coming out on the opposite side of the face. There was also a severe scalp wound, which is believed to have been inflicted by a sharp instrument, and several bruises on the face.

The body was discovered by Gustav Vass, who lives near the scene of murder. Mr. Vass with his wife, was taking a walk through the woods, which lie between the Union House saloon on the Sun Prairie road, and Monona yards of the Northwestern road. Mr. Vass called a gang of men who were working nearby and they informed the police.

The body was brought to Madison. Coroner Lynch and a jury viewed the remains and adjourned until Tuesday. The police believe Good was murdered and are working on several clues, but no arrests have yet been made. Good was seen alive between 10 and 11 o'clock yesterday forenoon.

The grove where the body was found is a rendezvous for tramps. Good received a legacy of a considerable sum several years ago and robbery is supposed to have been the motive. No valuables were found on the body.

She wired for her release here, and today the board sent back an answer refusing to release her. Her salary here is $850 and at New Brunswick it would be $750.

Sheboygan, Wis., Aug. 28.—The first conviction of a parent in the state for violation of the child labor law was made Saturday. Herman Maldenhauer of Sheboygan, being fined $5 and costs for permitting his daughter, Amelia, under 14 years of age, to work in a factory. The factory people were not to blame, inasmuch as the father had made a certificate stating that his daughter was of legal age. The alternative of the $5 fine was twenty days in jail, which was altered reduced to ten days. It is expected, however, that the father will be able to raise the amount of the fine and costs. Maldenhauer is poor and his daughter is a strong, robust girl. In consideration of this, Inspector J. J. Williams granted him a permit allowing his daughter to continue her work. Mr. Williams will remain in the city this week, and other prosecutions will follow.

MEET DEATH IN A BURNING CONVENT

St. Agnes School Near Nyack, N. Y., Burns.

FOUR SISTERS INJURED AND TWO WILL PROBABLY DIE.

Jumped From Windows, the Flames Cutting Off Escape By Way of Stairs—The Dead Are: Teresa Murphy, Jane, a Servant, Helen Brown and Emma Mackin—Nine Are Seriously and Some Probably Fatally Injured—More Than Seven Hundred and Fifty Persons in the Building.

Nyack, N. Y., Aug. 28.—[Special]—Four lives were lost by the burning of the St. Agnes convent for children, five miles south of here early this morning. Four sisters jumped from the windows, receiving frightful injuries, and two will probably die.

The four who jumped remained too long in, and the flames cut off their escape by way of the stairs. The following is a partial list of the dead and injured:

Dead—Teresa Murphy, aged sixteen, burned; Jane, a servant, aged 72, burned; Helen Brown, aged six, died of fright; Emma Mackin, aged four, same.

The injured are: Sister Ignatius, concussion of the spine and badly burned, may die; Sister Marie, concussion of the spine, burned, probably fatal; Sister Agnes, may die; Sister Bertram, concussion of the spine; Sister Cordelia, arm broken; Sister Carolina, same; Sister Sienna, shock; Hanna Shea, an inmate, aged 12, hip broken.

George A. McGuire, who has the only telephone in that village, saw at 1 o'clock this morning that the convent was in flames. He promptly telephoned to this city and to Piermont for aid.

From this city the Mazeppa engine and eight doctors started for the scene. Empire engine from Piermont also started for the fire, but it reported that by the time it arrived there the buildings were almost burned. It is impossible to estimate how many have been burned to death.

The convent consisted of nine frame buildings close together. They were three stories high and had a total frontage of 100 feet, with a total depth of 200 feet.

There were more than 500 children and fully 250 adults on the place.

It is reported that a great many children are missing and that a number are known to have perished in the flames.

The fire spread with such rapidity that the inmates of the buildings, it is said, had no possible chance to escape. The buildings for the most part were old and burned like tinder.

Four bodies of children have been recovered from the ruins. There were eighty nuns in the convent. One was severely injured by jumping from a window.

Sparkill is in Rockland county, New York, and is located on the west side of the Hudson river, opposite Dobbs Ferry, and about twenty-five miles from this city.

STREET RAILWAY CO. USE THE OLD RAIL

PROPOSAL TO THE COMMON COUNCIL IS ACCEPTED.

Special Meeting Held Last Saturday Afternoon at 2 O'clock—Alderman Sennett Was With the Mayor and Voted in the Negative—Thought Best to Wait.

A special meeting of the common council was held last Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock for the purpose of taking action on the matter of laying rail on West Milwaukee street.

Mayor Richardson was in the chair and stated that the object of the meeting was in regard to letting the street car company use the present rail instead of putting down the new girder rail, and revoke the order passed by the council several weeks ago. The mayor stated that he would much rather see the matter rest until spring, rather than allow the company to use the old rail. He said the tax payers had been promised a good job, and they should have it.

Ald. Gilkey stated that he was of the impression that the old rails would make just as good a job, and that he did not want to see a botch job of it.

Ald. Rice said he did not think the old rails would make as good a job as the girder rails, but the latter could not be secured and the street was in a deplorable condition and needed fixing as soon as possible.

Mayor—“And you, the chairman of the committee, make such a report as that?”

Ald. McLean summed up his impression of the street by telling how whips were jostled out of sockets and people were nearly pitched out of buggies by dugouts and ditches. He said that if the council did not put in the pavement this fall, the people would condemn them; also that the ward he represented paid $600 of the expense and he was willing to take his chances and let the work go on.

Alderman Sennett said that the people expected the girder rail, and the council should carry out the original plan.

City Clerk Badger read a proposal signed by George J. Hurd, manager of the Janesville Street Railway company, to the effect that on June 26, 1899, the company was ordered by the council to remove the rails of its line on West Milwaukee street, between the east side of High street and the west end of Milwaukee street bridge, and lay in place thereon on or before September 15, 1899, girder rails not less than seven inches in height, having a top in appearance the same as the old style flat street car rail, and to properly bond the rails. That the council has ordered a portion of West Milwaukee street to be paved with brick with a six inch concrete foundation, to be completed on or before Nov. 18, 1899, and that the company will be unable to procure the girder rails until after the time for the completion of the pavement; now, therefore, the Janesville street railway company, in consideration of the premises, hereby agrees to relay its rails with suitable ties, on that part of West Milwaukee street in accordance with the grade furnished by the city engineer, and to cause said rails to be properly bonded as required by the ordinance and provide iron chairs to support the rails at a distance of not less than seven inches from the upper side of said ties to the top of said rails, and to refund to said city such sum as it may be obliged to pay the contractor an additional cost for furnishing and laying a special paving brick required to fit said rails now on said street.

Alderman Rice moved that the proposal be accepted and that the mayor be instructed to sign the agreement.

Mayor Richardson requested the aldermen not to vote on the matter without due consideration. He said that tax payers would hold the council responsible if it was not right, and the council ought not to be too hasty.

A vote on the proposal of the company was taken, all voting in favor of it with the exception of Alderman Sennett.

A PLEASANT DANCING PARTY

Miss Ruby Blanchard Entertains Over One Hundred Friends

The West Side Odd Fellows' hall was the scene of a very pretty social function last Saturday evening. The occasion was a dancing party given by Miss Ruby Blanchard, in honor of her guest, Mrs. Mabelle Benedict Vankirk of Chicago. Miss Blanchard's hospitality was participated in by more than one hundred of the hostess' friends and the hours between 8 and 12 o'clock were merry ones indeed. Miss Blanchard and Mrs. Vankirk, assisted by little Miss Margie Merrill and Master Ellsworth Parish, received the guests in a beautifully decorated reception corner. The inspiration was furnished by Tuckwood's orchestra of five pieces. Refreshments were served in the dining hall below and were relished by the jolly participants. The evening was one of real enjoyment, in spite of the extreme warm weather and one that will long be remembered by all present.

S. D. FISHER IS A BUSY MAN

Special Game Warden of Brodhead, Not After Illegal Hunters.

The good work of the game warden goes merrily on, and if they were all as active as Special Game Warden S. D. Fisher of Brodhead, the illegal hunter would have no rest.

On Wednesday, August 23, he was sent up on the Mississippi river, in Grant county, and after some clever work, detected two fishermen, Roy Dodge and William Rabman, in the act of using a two hundred and fifty foot net, in violation of the fish laws. He seized the net and boat, and burned both, in the presence of the irate owners. This is the only proper course to pursue in these cases, and a few such object lessons could not fail to impress upon the mind of the law breaker the fact that there is a vast difference between the game wardens of the past and of the present.

The Temple Is Safe.

It is said that the construction of the dam across the Nile at Assouan, Egypt, will not submerge the temple at Philae. The actual level of the water behind the dam will be a little above the present high-water mark, so that the floor of the temple will still be dry.

"PLASTER OF PARIS" A CLEVER COMEDY

KEPT SATURDAY NIGHT'S AUDIENCE IN GOOD HUMOR.

A Laughable Farce That Was Clean and Bright—Monte Cristo at Myers Grand Tomorrow Evening is Almost a Faultless Production—Other Coming Attractions.

Alfred J. Busby presented his fascinating farce-comedy, "Mr. Plaster of Paris," at the Myers Grand opera house Saturday night, and while the audience might have been larger without incurring the displeasure of the management, those in attendance had the satisfaction of witnessing a very clever performance.

The farce is clean and bright, and kept the audience in continual laughter at the many amusing situations. There is not a dull line in the play. Richard Obeo played the part of Plaster very acceptably, and William Morgas as the luckless Binks, proved himself to be a very clever actor, as did George Clemens as Nels Nelson, the Swede. Of the ladies of the cast, Pauline Billepp as the fickle Mrs. Plaster, was good, and Marie Well-lesley played the part of the old maid, to perfection. The specialties by the different members of the company were all good.

Tomorrow Night's Attraction.

It is seldom that theatrical attractions keep their play-bill promises, but the production of Monte Cristo, which is to be presented at Myers' Grand opera house tomorrow night is said to be almost a faultless production from a scenic as well as dramatic standpoint. This grand old play from the pen of the great author, Alexandre Dumas, is in the hands of a company that has won praise from noted Eastern critics and Mr. Charles H. Farham, who portrays Edmond Dantes, is said to more than equal any of his predecessors as the revengeful Count.

Although this play has probably been presented over ten thousand times it seems never to grow old with age. This season's production promises to overshadow all former attempts from a scenic standpoint and there is little doubt but what Monte Cristo will receive a warm welcome on his presentation here. The advance sale of seats has started off well.

Shepard's Great Minstrel Jubilee.

Shepard's Great Minstrel Jubilee, which appears at the Myers' Grand Opera house on Sept. 8 is receiving the encomiums of the press and public at every turn.

Among the many new and novel features presented, are Ogawa's Troupe of Royal Japanese. As past masters in art of balancing and juggling, these sons of the Orient are entitled to the large and luscious specimen of the baker's art that is nightly offered in the cake walk.

For several years, Ogawa and his family were the star performers at the lawn fetes at the Imperial palace in Tokio, and so popular were they with the emperor, that he showed gifts galore upon the fortunate acrobats.

Among the glittering insignia Ogawa wears on his silken overdress, is an evidence of the royal favor that causes the possessor to be an object of envy to every native of Japan he meets. It is nothing less than a magnificent jeweled emblem of the order of Mui-Joss, an honor comparable in Japan with the Order of the Garter in Old England.

Ogawa's troupe of acrobats will positively appear with Shepard's Minstrels during their engagement in this city. Popular prices will prevail.

A Rag-Time Jubilee.

That numerous class of theatregoers who revel in hearing the latest "rag time" song hits of the day, and the catchiest kind of "coon" melodies and dances, have a rare treat in store for them at the Myers Grand next Thursday night when the latest big colored show, "The Hottest Coon in Dixie," will be seen for the first time in this city. The piece is a lively farce-comedy and travesty in three acts, made up of all the most popular features of farce, vaudeville and opera, and is presented by an organization of thirty-five leading colored entertainers of their race.

The chorus, especially, is a feature of the performance that is bound to prove a revelation to our theatregoers, being the famous singing corps of the original "Clorindy" that ran for sixteen consecutive weeks at the New York Casino roof garden. The costuming is said to be quite as pretentious as is usually seen in the largest extravaganzas and operas, and many novel dances, marches and ensembles are introduced. The fun of "The Hottest Coon in Dixie" is one of the hilarious order, and the comedians of the piece are among the leading and best known colored fun-makers of this country, who have helped to make successes of nearly every colored attraction of the past four years. "The Hottest Coon in Dixie" contains no less than thirty-six musical numbers, ranging from the popular negro ditties to gorgeously costumed choruses from grand opera.

Gray Hairs Can be Deferred

Premature gray hairs usually are the effects of carelessness. If the scalp is kept free of dandruff and properly nourished and strengthened, gray hairs would be unusual before the age of forty or forty-five. There is no remedy in existence that will restore color to gray hairs; but the

Seven Sutherland Sisters'

Hair Grower and Scalp Cleaner, if applied according to directions contained in each package, will positively defer gray hairs until nature compels their appearance. There are today thousands of American men and women who have revived the dying energies of their hair through the faithful use of these simple and natural remedies.

OUR DAILY STORY

"Your little heartsease?" Caro, don't you remember?"

"I don't remember to have given you any right to ask such questions."

"But you remember," he persisted. She laughed softly. "How they hated me, those other little girls. They called me a mean, stuck-up, snub-nosed thing."

A little gleam of triumph shone in his eyes. She remembered.

"Then the mountain party years afterward. You were 16. I was leading your horse, the saddle turned and you fell right into my arms, Caro, and I kissed you."

The long lashes had curtained her eyes.

"Have you forgotten?" he whispered.

"However did you make such love to the senoritas?" she asked, demurely. "You had no reminiscences and youthful follies in common."

"Don't interrupt, please. I promised to do it all. Then the night I left. I can feel your little fingers soft and warm in mine yet and see the wistfulness in your eyes. You cared then. You can't deny it. Your trembling lips and sweet wet eyes kept me straight over there among so many wild fellows. You told me to make a man of myself and I have worked three hard, honest years for you, dear. I have never loved any other woman."

She sat still, the color coming and going in her cheeks.

He leaned toward her, his heart in his face. They were quite hidden by the drapery. A voice cut softly across the low humming that filled the room.

A woman's voice as she passed with her attendant to the refreshment room.

"The pretty blonde who stood against these curtains—she was looking at you with her heart in her eyes," the voice said.

"She is young, la petite; she will learn to shrug her shoulders and laugh as the years go on."

The girl leaned forward to catch the reply. Her blue eyes black, her cheeks white, the little teeth set relentlessly in the soft redness of her under lip.

The answer came lightly, after a moment.

"A man will pass a sweet wild rose if a lily glows and dazzles just beyond."

The voices were lost in the hum.

She leaned back, the small hands clinched. He watched her anxiously. Then sensuous, softly swelling wait melody thrummed in his brain.

Would she never speak? He dared not.

Then with a long breath of relief she moved toward him. The delicate beauty of her face shone like a flower in the shadowed nook.

"Rob," she said, softly, "I'm so glad I know."

"Know what, dear?" He covered the little fingers as if she had been a child.

She lifted her eyes in astonishment. "Know that it was wounded pride, of course. What did you think I meant? I would have got over it. No woman with any spirit would have cared for a man after that. But it is such a relief not to care." And she laughed a little light-hearted, childish laugh.

"Caro, are you sure?" His voice was full of entreaty. "Will you let me teach you to care for me?"

"It would be useless"—the words had no sting; the voice was soft and low—"perfectly useless, for I have discovered unsuspected territory in my being to-night. Rob, you dear stupid, don't you understand?" She slipped her fingers into his, just as in the old childhood days. "I've loved you straight through, but—you were gone so long."

There was an ecstatic movement of the curtain, then silence; because understanding is enough when people are in love.

Chauncey's New Joke.

Senator Chauncey M. Depew will have a new one on himself to tell when he gets back. An inquisitive Britisher, a noble duke, who wanted to know just how to pronounce the gifted orator's name, went for him after the manner of Li Hung Chang. (By the way, Li's inquisitorial methods are being adopted by not a few of the swells.)

"Do they call you De-poo, Dep-oo, Depue, Dep-ue, or Deep-er?" asked his grace. "I never was called in my life, your grace, because I never played," was the American's reply. "Ho, ha! One of your poker jokes," laughed the duke. But I am serious." Then the senator, also serious, answered: "There are people in my country who spell their name Dupuy and call it De-pue. There is a great Frenchman who spells his name Dupuy and calls it Du-pwee. We call a guy a gey; the Frenchmen call him a gee. In England you call a eye a yo; we call her a yew. Now, your grace, just consider how 'deep' I am and how shallow are 'you,' and you'll have my name pronounced right—De-pew!"—New York Press.

AGREEMENT WITH CANADA.

Negotiations Said to Be Proceeding with Perfect Amity.

Washington, Aug. 28.—In spite of the apparent abandonment of the negotiations with Canada, it is learned on the authority of an official whose connection with the boundary question has been constant and confidential, that a secret agreement had been reached, as the result of which a temporary arrangement will be accomplished before congress meets in December.

As the result of negotiations conducted in the utmost secrecy, assurances have been given the American commissioners, it is said, that if they will allow matters to rest until after the Canadian elections in October a temporary agreement will be readily reached. It is suggested that the basis of the new modus vivendi has been sketched out and practically agreed upon by the American and the Canadian commissioners.

The British foreign office understands the situation and will agree to anything the Canadians do.

Prize American Contractors.

Cairo, Aug. 28.—The bridge over the river Atbara, in the Egyptian Sudan, the contract for which was obtained by the Pencoed Iron works of Philadelphia, to the extreme disgust of British bridge builders, was opened to traffic Saturday. Gen. Kitchener, in his speech at the opening, praised highly "the cousins across the Atlantic" for their energy and skill as well as their ability to turn out works of great magnitude in less time than would be required by any one else.

Alliance in the East.

Moscow, Aug. 28.—A diplomatic informant telegraphs that despite all the denials that have issued from Peking and Tokyo and from other quarters of the globe the defensive alliance between China and Japan is an accomplished fact. The Chinese envoys who went to Japan toward the end of July were charged by the empress dowager with alliance negotiations, and there is no room for doubt that they were successful.

Many To Be Sent to the Front.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 28.—The prospects are that there will be 1,000 veterans at the Grand Army encampment from Illinois, while of the surrounding states Wisconsin is expected to send 500 men, Iowa 600, Indiana 500 and Minnesota 200. The estimated total to be at the encampment is 4,500. The date is Sept. 4 to 9.

Crippled by Rheumatism.

Those who have Rheumatism find themselves growing steadily worse all the while. One reason of this is that the remedies prescribed by the doctors contain mercury and potash, which ultimately intensify the disease by causing the joints to swell and stiffen, producing a severe aching of the bones. S. S. S. has been curing Rheumatism for twenty years—even the worst cases which seemed almost incurable.

Capt. O. E. Hughes, the popular railroad conductor of Columbia, S. C., had an experience with Rheumatism which convinced him that there is only one cure for that painful disease. He says: "I was a great sufferer from muscular Rheumatism for two years. I could get no permanent relief from any medicine prescribed by my physician. I took about a dozen bottles of your S. S. S. and now I am as well as I ever was in my life. I am sure that your medicine cured me, and I would recommend it to any one suffering from any blood disease."

Everybody knows that Rheumatism is a diseased state of the blood, and only a blood remedy is the only proper treatment, but a remedy containing potash and mercury only aggravates the trouble.

S. S. S. For Blood

being Purely Vegetable, goes direct to the very cause of the disease and a permanent cure always results. It is the only blood remedy guaranteed to contain no potash, mercury or other dangerous minerals.

WINE OF CARDUI

A SURE MEDICINE.

HANDSOM, Va., Dec. 31.
I have been suffering from female weakness for four years, and have taken many medicines, but Wine of Cardui and Black-Draught have done more for me than anything else.
MRS. CAROLINE EVANS.

Wine of Cardui

It is a mistake to take any and every kind of medicine when you are sick. There is danger in it. Most of the so-called cures for "female weakness" do nothing more than deaden the pain temporarily, and when the effect wears away the patient is weaker and sicker than before. It is never wise to take chances. You have only one life, and that is dear and precious. If you have any pain, ache, disorder or weakness in the feminine organs, nothing will help you like Wine of Cardui. It helps do away with morning sickness during the early stages of pregnancy, and modifies the pains of childbirth; recovery is rapid and future health is assured. The Wine is purely vegetable, being made of herbs whose medicinal properties act directly upon the organs of womanhood. It is a long-tried remedy, and has many years of success behind it. It is sure. Why take a chance medicine when you can get a sure medicine?

JUSTICE TO PUBLIC OFFICERS

The chief of the fire department at Racine was recently confronted by charges, and an investigation of his office was ordered. The probing resulted in his complete vindication, and he will retain his place. It is easier to make charges against a public officer than to prove them, and innocent men are frequently made to suffer unjustly in consequence. It would appear to be but right in such cases, that the maker of charges be required to furnish something tangible in the way of proof before notice of his complaint is taken. A public officer is always in a delicate position. He cannot please everyone, no matter how hard he may try, and should not be the target for men who have axes to grind. The maker of charges generally has everything to gain and nothing to lose, but with the officer the contrary applies. Talk is cheap, but it takes facts to prove charges. Public officers should have adequate protection, and unless the charges are shown to be well grounded they should be "taken with a grain of salt."

SPOONER UPHOLDS M'KINLEY

Senator Spooner is not an expansionist, but upholds the president's course originally, saying:
"So far as the situation in the Philippines and the annexation of the islands is concerned, the president is in no way responsible for it, as has been asserted. When Dewey called for troops to capture Manila, the whole country insisted that they be sent immediately, and the president was even subjected to sharp criticism because they were not dispatched at once. Not a protest was raised against sending those troops. No one seemed to foresee that the occupation of Manila, as it was planned then, meant more than the simple taking of the city. Our troops could not leave after the city was captured, and no one demanded it because the foreigners and even the natives needed our protection. Since then we have not been able to remove the soldiers from the islands, and all that remains to be done now is to suppress the insurgent Filipinos as soon as possible. Then it is the task of congress to provide for a government of the islands. As you know, I am not an expansionist, and I believe that the problem, though a serious one, will be satisfactorily settled."

The street railway company should receive liberal treatment. Owner Blabon kept the cars running at a loss for several years and now that prospects are better we should all rejoice with him. Mr. Blabon has been unusually public spirited and the citizens of Janesville should treat him as kindly as he has treated them.

The pen is still mightier than the sword—as is shown by the fact that The Milwaukee Journal's pen raised the money to buy the swords for Generals King and MacArthur.

Through the efforts of Senator John C. Spooner, several additional army commissions have been appointed to Wisconsin.

The railway companies evidently believe that "the better the day, the better the dead."

Let the railways come—and the more the better.

About one month ago my child, which is fifteen months old, had an attack of diarrhoea accompanied by vomiting. I gave it such remedies as are usually given in such cases, but as nothing gave relief, we sent for a physician and it was under his care for a week. At this time the child had been sick for about ten days and was having about twenty-five operations of the bowels every twelve hours, and we were convinced that unless it soon obtained relief it would not live. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was recommended, and I decided to try it. I soon noticed a change for the better; by its continued use a complete cure was brought about and it is now perfectly healthy.—O. L. Boggs, Stumpdown, Gilmer Co., W. Va. THE AURORA PICNIC WAS A BIG SUCCESS

GIVEN AT CRYSTAL SPRINGS
BY CATHOLIC FORESTERS.

Exactly 815 Excursionists From the Illinois City Spent Sunday in the Bower City—Came in Eleven Coaches Over the C. V. & W. Road—Big Crowds.

The picnic given by the West Side Catholic Foresters of Aurora, Ill., at Crystal Springs park yesterday was a big success and everybody went away well satisfied with the treatment they received in this city. There were exactly 815 excursionists from the Illinois city and they came in eleven coaches over the C. & N. W. road at 11:30 a. m. They were accompanied by a band of music and the most of them went at once to the boat landings and took passage for the park on the several steamers.

The affair attracted the largest number of local people that have attended a picnic this summer and every boat was crowded with the good natured pleasure seekers. They did not all go on the steamers though, by any means, as that would have been out of the question. They went on bicycles, in carriages and in row boats and overhauled every part of the picnic grounds. It was estimated that there were at least 2000 people in attendance during the day and the picnic was a record breaker. It was exceedingly well handled as is evidenced by the fact that no accidents occurred to mar the pleasure of the day. Games of all kinds were indulged in and nobody can complain that there was anything slow about the affair.

The dance hall was packed with old and young people, who made the rounds of the building many times, to the delightful music of an Aurora orchestra. The Aurora Military band was on hand, and rendered an excellent concert program during the afternoon, and received many words of praise on their good work.

There was plenty on hand to eat and drink, and nothing was left to spoil on the hands of those who ran the many refreshment stands. It was a great day for "Capt. Alex.", and he made the most of it, and no doubt wishes that every picnic on his grounds might be as largely attended as yesterday's.

The committee of arrangements for the Aurora delegation were Archie Moreau, Peter Pompey, Peter Webber, Dennis Garvey and A. E. Hagen, and they conducted the successful affair in a most creditable manner. There was nothing going on at the park last night and the fleet of steamers had the crowd all back to the city by 8 o'clock. The Aurora excursionists left for home about 9 o'clock and all voted that they had enjoyed a royal good time. May they visit our city again.

HOW THE DREYFUS TRIAL GOES

Left to Judges to Sift the Wheat From the Chaff

The daily incidents in the courtroom at Rennes are interesting, enough, to be sure; but they are, comparatively speaking, of transient importance. France is a civilized nation with noble codes of law and a highly trained body of lawyers. French trials are, however, conducted in such a way that many aspects of them seem worse than ridiculous to those accustomed to the methods of the United States and England. Thus the witnesses at the Dreyfus trial were in the main given the freedom to tell what they knew in their own way, and were allowed to assert their opinions, beliefs, prejudices, dislikes, and emotional points of view as if these were really matters of evidence. Under our rulings such digressions would be severely repressed as irrelevant. And yet it does not follow that our method is so superior to the French in all respects. Our rules of evidence are so technical that it often happens that the ends of substantial justice are wholly defeated because a really significant thing, which a witness would be glad to state and which would clear up the case, is ruled out. In an American trial the lawyers seem to be playing a certain kind of game with the judge as umpire, under elaborate and extremely technical rules which nobody can hope altogether to understand except the professionals. The witness must under no circumstances tell in his own way what he really knows, thinks, or feels about the case, but must answer the lawyer's questions in ways which do not violate the technical rules of evidence. In France, however, it is the judge, not the opposing counsel, who conducts the trial, and what the judge wants of each witness is the revelation of whatever may be in that witness' mind respecting the subject under investigation. It then becomes the subsequent business of the magistrate to get at such grains of legal evidence as may be found in the chaff of the witness' rambling discourse. It would be a rather bold proposition to assert that under our American method substantial justice is rendered in a larger percentage of cases than under the French method. In the Dreyfus case liberty allowed to witnesses on one side was allowed in about the same measure to those on the other.—From "The Progress of the World," in the American Review of Reviews for September.

Profitable Peanut Crop.
A phenomenal demand for peanuts has resulted in an advance of 100 per cent in the price thereof, and it is estimated that at the new quotations the 1899 crop will be worth between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000. A comparatively small district in Virginia will profit by the advance.

TYPEWRITING IS PERMANENT.

Question of Durability of Records Made Subject of State Supervision.

The permanency of typewritten records is a subject of no little importance and it is worthy of note that a series of experiments is being conducted in Boston with a view of establishing the relative value of the leading brands of typewriter ribbons. Robert T. Swan, the state commissioner of public records for the state of Massachusetts, is doing some good work in this direction. He finds that of the different colors used for typewriter ribbons, the red, green, blue and purple are not permanent, black being the only one that will stand the tests to which he subjects the writing. The legislature of Massachusetts, which recently adjourned, passed an act permitting typewritten records to be accepted as official when approved by the commissioner of public records, New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey having previously taken similar action. In other words, no such records will be accepted unless the materials used are up to the standard, and the commissioner is expressly authorized by the statute referred to to withdraw his approval at any time when he shall find that the articles used fall below such standard. This is an important matter which should be acted upon in every state, for the illegible is something that ought to be carefully provided against, otherwise it were much better to keep in force the provision that legal records shall be written only with pen and ink. It is possible, we think, to produce typewritten records that are quite as permanent as any produced by writing with a pen, and in view of the greater legibility of the former as well as their economy of production, it is desirable that this should be done. While the states generally have no official corresponding to the commissioner of public records of Massachusetts, it ought to be made somebody's business to supervise the matter of permanency of public records.—Albany Law Journal.

BLEW OUT THE GAS AND RETIRED TO BED

CLOSE CALL OF FRANK FLUER
SATURDAY NIGHT.

Discovered Near Death's Door at the Galbraith Barn Yesterday Morning—Ten Minutes More Obituary Would be Chronicled Instead of Narrow Escape.

Frank Fluer blew out the gas upon retiring to bed in the office of Galbraith's barn on East Milwaukee street, late Saturday night, and when discovered yesterday morning was as near to death as a man could possibly be and survive to tell the tale. Another ten minutes and his obituary would now be chronicled instead of his narrow escape.

Fluer is a young man about twenty-five years of age who came to this city recently from his home in Kansas and for some time past has been employed by John Decker on Milton avenue as a farm hand. When in the city he has been in the habit of stopping at the house of Mrs. Mary Monahan, 153 East Milwaukee street.

He went to the latter place about 11:30 o'clock Saturday night and finding that the folks had retired, he decided not to awaken them but went to the Galbraith barn, a couple of doors west, and asked Frank Schanbach who was in charge, if he might sleep there. Schanbach was acquainted with the young man and told him that he might. Fluer inquired if the doors could be locked and was assured that they could. Schanbach then lighted the gas for him, and after a short conversation the men parted, Fluer retiring in the office, and the latter going to his boarding place.

Schanbach went to the barn about 9 o'clock yesterday morning and upon trying the office door found it still locked. He thought nothing strange of the circumstance, however, as he supposed the young man was still sleeping and so went about his work. Some twenty minutes later, upon passing the door, he detected the odor of escaping gas and his suspicions were then aroused.

He ran around to the side window and looking in, saw Fluer lying upon the bed with his arms outstretched. His face was livid and Schanbach thought he was dead. He quickly raised the sash and climbing into the room he shut off the gas, which was turned on, and carried the lifeless form of the lodger out into the barn. A messenger was dispatched for Dr. E. F. Woods, who responded immediately. He found that a very faint spark of life still remained, and set to work at once to restore consciousness. Several restoratives were applied as well as artificial respiration and after three hours of hard work the doctor was rewarded by evidence of returning life.

Fluer was then removed to the boarding house and put to bed and the treatment continued. Late in the afternoon he had recovered sufficiently to understand the situation and congratulate himself on his narrow escape. He is a verdant country youth and supposed that he could blow out the gas. He now knows differently, and before he fully recovers will doubtless appreciate the folly of the act.

Dr. Woods said that if Fluer had been discovered ten minutes later, the undertaker would have had a job. The reason that he lived through the night was due to the fact that the office was not entirely tight, and a quantity of the gas escaped from it.

ISADORE COHEN ACQUITTED

Jury After Being Out Seven Hours
Bringing in Verdict of Not Guilty

After being out seven hours the jury in the case of the state against Isadore Cohen, brought in a verdict of not guilty at 6:55 o'clock Saturday evening.

The first ballot, taken after the jury retired for deliberation stood, eight for conviction and four for acquittal, and twenty-one ballots were taken in all. The jury were out nearly eight hours and at several times it looked as if the case would end in a disagreement, but Judge Eifield was firm and when he was asked by the foreman to discharge the men he refused and sent them back for an agreement. Two of the jurors held out until the last minute, when they were worn out and won over to the side in favor of acquittal. District Attorney W. A. Jackson appeared for the state and George G. Sutherland of this city, and W. B. Rubin of Milwaukee, defended Cohen.

The match will be catch-as-catch-can style, best two out of three falls, the Police Gazette rules to govern and the falls to be pinned. It has been mutually agreed that Sheriff Appleby shall referee, which insures impartial decisions. Some interesting preliminaries will take place at 8:30 o'clock.

THE Telegraph in London.

The Sudan is being rapidly covered with a network of telegraph wires. It is expected that the telegraph will be 1,000 miles south of Khartoum at the end of the year. This means the practical joining up with Uganda, and as Rhodes' telegraph is approaching Tanganyika the transcontinental telegraph may be expected to be finished early next year.

Cracker Genius.

It takes a genius to make a good cracker. Any "cheap" baker can't do it. There's a knack needed which few possess. Woodard & Stone's Cane Butter Crackers are the result of the very best ingredients handled in the most skillful manner. That's why they are "top of the heap."

Verne's Many Books.

Jules Verne, the French author, who wrote "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," and many other books well known by boys, has been busier than any other writer, having written six more books than the number of years he has lived. Perhaps Miss Braddon, among English writers, with 55 novels to her name in 37 years, most nearly approaches this wonderful record.

Miss Calve's Tomb.

Mme. Emma Calve, the singer, has ordered Mr. Denys Puech, the sculptor, to design her tomb. She has no immediate intention of dying; will probably, in fact, sing "Carmen" many times more. But she wishes to see her tomb before she has need of it. Also she is not without hope that M. Puech's design may prove fine enough to be exhibited at the Paris World's Fair. That explains, does it not?

LAY TRACKS TO ROCK RIVER WOOLEN MILLS

NORTHWESTERN LABORERS BE GIN WORK AT MIDNIGHT.

Rails Laid From the Afton Branch—Work Continued Until 4 a. m.—Directors Make a Hurried Trip to Scene and Stop Work—Hold Meeting This Evening.

The C. & N. W. Railway Company sent a gang of three hundred laborers to this city shortly after midnight on Sunday morning to lay a track from the Afton branch of the road to the Rock River Woolen Mills plant at Monterey.

Work was commenced at once and continued until about 4 o'clock a. m. when the news of the move reached some of the directors of the mills who made a hurried trip to the scene and ordered the work stopped until a meeting of the board could be called to consider the matter. By this time the tracks had been laid from the main line to a point near the boiler house of the lower mill and work had been done on another line from the upper mill down to the flume of the former, leaving an unconnected space of about one hundred yards. The laborers were withdrawn from the work Sunday noon.

The officials of the mills objected to the track crossing the flume, on the grounds that the running of cars over it would injure the masonry and would also be in such close proximity to the cotton mill as to cause an increase in the insurance rates. Some of the members want the railway company to go north about one hundred and twenty feet, to the bank of the head race, and cross the latter on a trestle to connect with the line on the south bank, and from there run to the woolen mill.

Operations were suspended, to allow of negotiations being made with the railway officials, and when the matter is decided, the work will be resumed.

The directors some time ago granted the company permission to lay a spur from the main line to the cotton mill boiler house but did not grant permission to go beyond that point.

The work does not conflict in any way with the C. M. & St. P. right of way and so was not marked by the spectacular features that attended the River street track building a short time ago. The operations yesterday were under the personal supervision of Superintendent Lawson of the C. and N. W. road.

It is not known just how the matter will turn out as there is a diversity of opinion between the directors of the mills in regard to the matter. Some of the directors of the board want the track to cross the head race as above stated, while the rest are opposed to the rails being laid on so much of the property and think the Woolen Mills should be reached by way of Western Avenue if at all. A meeting will probably be held this evening between the officials of the road and the directors of the mills, when the matter will be decided to the satisfaction of both parties.

EDGERTON MAN IS INJURED

Dr. E. F. Woods Called to Attend William Holcomb

Dr. E. F. Woods received a dispatch yesterday afternoon calling him to Edgerton to attend William Holcomb of that city, who had been badly injured in a runaway accident. The unfortunate man was driving from the city to his home one mile out when his team became frightened and ran away.

The wagon struck the side of a bridge and Holcomb was thrown fifteen feet, striking on his head and shoulders, fracturing the skull and breaking the left collar bone. Dr. Woods, upon his arrival, made the injured man as comfortable as possible, but cannot say at this time whether he will live or not. Holcomb was well known in this city.

Beloit Driver Has a Narrow Escape in an Effort to Save Them

While the driver was filling a tank at the Peconicon river, at Beloit, Saturday, a team belonging to George Gleason, a well known farmer, ran into the stream and drowned. The animals became frightened, and as soon as deep water was reached, became entangled in the harness and were dragged to the bottom. The driver had a narrow escape in his attempt to save the horses.

JANESVILLE CLUB WON GOLF MATCH

GAME ENDED FORTY UP FOR HOME TEAM.

Visitors Delighted With the Course Although its Undulating Surface Had Something to Do With the Outcome—Supper Served by Sinner's Club Ladies.

Janesville golfers came out ahead when the Saturday match ended. The Kenosha men were handicapped by the change from their level unbroken course to the hills and valleys of Buckleton and although they drove well and putted well they had trouble when it came to negotiating banging lies and side hills.

Chester Barnes, one of the youngest members of the visiting team, not yet out of his teens broke the ground record by doing his last nine holes in 43. His double round was made in 92. Al Schaller made the eighteen holes in 91 and several others made good cards. The summary of the match follows:

BRITAIN TO ENFORCE RIGHTS.

Dispute Over Lands at Hankow Leads to Exciting Incidents.

Shanghai, Aug. 28.—As the outcome of a dispute regarding some lands at Hankow, on the Yangtze River, about 700 miles from the sea, which were purchased in 1863 by the concern of Jardine, Matheson & Co., but were subsequently included in the new concessions to Russia, the owners, under the advice and protection of Mr. Hurst, the British consul, sent workmen to fence in the tract.

After the work was begun a dozen Cossacks from the Russian consulate appeared on the scene and forcibly ejected the workmen.

The captain of the British second-class gunboat Woodlark, specially designed for river service, after consulting with Mr. Hurst, landed a party of bluejackets and moved the Woodlark within firing distance of the Russian consulate. For a time a fight seemed imminent, but nothing further occurred. The bluejackets are now guarding the property.

The British third-class gunboat Esk has been dispatched to Hankow from this port. Great Britain is evidently determined to uphold British rights.

TO TRY 35 NEGRO RIOTERS.

Georgia Troops to Remain at Darien Until Court Adjourns.

Darien, Ga., Aug. 28.—Col. Lawton has returned eighty-six men and three officers to Savannah, and he has remaining 175 men and officers from the First Georgia regiment and the McIntosh light dragoons. He says a large part of these troops will be held in camp here until the special term of the Superior court is over.

This special term has been called by Judge Seabrook of the Atlantic Circuit and will open next Wednesday to try the thirty-five negro rioters now in jail at Savannah, along with Henry Delagall, the negro about whom the trouble here originated, and John Delagall, his son, who is in jail for the murder of Deputy Sheriff Townsend.

Michigan Town Fire.

Reading Mich., Aug. 28.—Fire swept the business and residence portions of this town Sunday, and before it was under control twenty-one buildings were destroyed. The Hillside and Jongsville fire departments responded to calls for help, but were able to do very little owing to the scarcity of water in the reservoirs. The fire originated in Hollingshead's livery stable and spread rapidly. There was no loss of life, but several persons received serious injuries while fighting the flames. The amount of insurance carried on the various buildings is about $40,000.

Window-Glass Trust Given Up.

Anderson, Ind., Aug. 28.—It is officially given out today that the organization of the $37,000,000 window-glass trust has been abandoned. Brown Bros. & Co., bankers, who were financing the deal, and are out $50,000, have withdrawn, the immediate cause being the action brought in the Indiana courts by the Glass Workers' National association enjoining the Indiana manufacturers from entering the trust.

The independent and co-operative manufacturers organized Friday in Columbus and will open their plants Sept. 15.

Otis, together with 1,207 recruits for the regular army, make a force of 15,697 men to leave San Francisco by Oct. 15.

Coney Island Picked Out.

New York, Aug. 28.—Since the arrival of William A. Brady from Europe an agreement has been entered into by him and the manager of Sharkey, who is matched to fight Jeffries, which will result in bringing the two big fellows together in the same ring in which Fitzsimmons lost his honors to the present champion. Jeffries is a favorite in the betting, the prevailing odds being 10 to 7. Even at that quotation Sharkey money is scarce.

BRITAIN PREPARED FOR WAR.

Authorities Have Completed Arrangements for Possible Conflict.

London, Aug. 28.—Special dispatches from South Africa and elsewhere show that preparations for war are actively in progress on both sides to the dispute between Great Britain and the Transvaal. The dispatches from South Africa all lay stress on the feeling of anxiety and unrest that prevails there, and declare that no confidence is felt in the promises of the Boers.

All the morning papers comment editorially on the speech delivered by Colonial Secretary Chamberlain at Birmingham yesterday. They are unanimous on one point, expressing in practically identical phraseology the fact that the matter is now at the eleventh hour, and that the issue is in President Kruger's hands.

A dispatch to the Daily News from Johannesburg says that many small traders are being ruined by political uncertainty, which has caused stagnation of business. Fifteen hundred families are in receipt of daily relief, and there is much distress that is not reported. Unless something decisive occurs speedily, thousands of British subjects will be alienated from their allegiance to Great Britain, in whose promises they are losing confidence.

Boers Do Not Fear War.

Johannesburg, Aug. 28.—In a speech here Sunday Vice-President and Commandant-General Joubert said he hoped that matters would be settled, but he could not say there would be peace when there was danger. He added that, if the people of Johannesburg or London thought that the Transvaal was giving in through fear or weakness, they were mistaken. He would, however, seek peace until the first shot was fired.

For Trial Trip of Kearsarge.

Newport News, Va., Aug. 28.—The trial trip of the battleship Kearsarge will take place between Sept. 5 and 15. The trip of the Kearsarge is being looked forward to with a great deal of interest, as she will be the first warship ever built embodying the superposed turret idea, that is, with the eight-inch turrets over the thirteen-inch turrets, enabling this ship, as well as the Kentucky, to concentrate on one point a far heavier fire in less time than any other ship afloat.

Slight Increase in Plague Cases.

Shanghai, Aug. 28.—It is announced that the number of cases of bubonic plague at New Chwang is slightly increasing, and that seventy-three deaths from the disease have occurred there in four days. The authorities of Shanghai are taking special precautions to prevent an outbreak of the plague there. They are examining all ships and junks from the north. Hitherto, junks had not been inspected.

THE WIDE AWAKE.

O' Clothing Department

FOR BOYS AND CHILDREN.

We have made an addition to our stock that we think will be appreciated by mothers from the fact that the department will give them an opportunity of purchasing Clothing for the boys at a much less figure than is usually asked by other stores for strictly dependable goods. The Clothing we have purchased comes from the best makers in the country and is made up from the late cloth patterns in the best styles. Each will be warranted by us fully as is every article in our store. We can afford to let these goods out for less than the stores that depend on the line for profit, rent, etc., because it is merely one of a great number of departments in our store, and, like our Shoe stock is merely one of the whole stock to bring up our yearly margins.

A WOMAN GLOBE CIRCLER

Eliza Archard Conner, Homeward
Bound, Tells of a Sail Through the Suez Canal.

Probably the best way for Americans to go around the world is to start in at the westward, sailing from San Francisco and taking in beautiful, radiant Hawaii on the way. A round the world steamer ticket can be obtained with stop over privileges.

It is best to travel westward round the world because of the heat in the Red sea and Suez canal. The prevailing winds there are from the north. When a steamer passes through from Europe to the orient, she has a sluggish wind behind her which the motion of the vessel makes null.

Vessels passing through the Red sea from Europe in summer have sometimes to turn about and go northward for some hours in order to relieve their fainting passengers. For these same considerations of temperature it is likewise better to make the journey through southern Asia and the Suez canal in winter.

Indeed, in summer the passage of the Red sea is almost as serious a business now as it was when the children of Israel crossed it on dry land. The hottest known region of the earth is along the shores of the Persian gulf. The next hottest is the Red sea country. In summer, with the hot wind from Arabia blowing across, it becomes like the old hardshell preacher's fiery furnace of the Hebrew children, which was "seven times hotter than it could be hot."

One of our passengers suggests that the name Red sea may be merely a Port Said on the north. In its center, where its depth is greatest, sloping off shallowly toward the banks, it is 27½ feet deep.

Steamers are only allowed to go through at a speed of five miles an hour. Dredges are at work continually widening and deepening it. Indeed, unless they kept at work the channel would soon fill with the drifting desert sands. The passage of the canal requires from 14 to 18 hours, according to the number of times a vessel must stop to let steamers coming in the opposite direction go by. The steamer that is going against the tide must stop to await the one traveling with the tide, for sea tides are as strong and as regular here through the channel's whole length as elsewhere in ocean waters. According to Mr. Rudyard Kipling, Port Said is the wickedest place on earth.

Finally, the Suez canal being a subject of interest to Americans just now because of our own Nicaragua canal that is to be, I may mention that in spite of the enormous expense required to keep it in running order it pays immensely. Ship owners are taxed $1.75 for every ton of freight and $2 for every passenger conveyed through it. When it is considered that a single ship often carries several hundred passengers or a cargo vessel sometimes 9,000 to 10,000 tons of freight and that 8 to 20 ships, going and coming, glide through the channel every day, it can be understood that Suez canal stock is a good investment.

And yet, if you, the traveler, are after you have concluded that you ought not to drink coffee. It is not a medicine, but doctors order it because it is healthful, invigorating and appetizing. It is made from pure grain and has that rich, sweet brown color and taste like the finest grades of coffee and costs about 4¢ as much. Children like it and thrive on it because it is a complete food drink containing nothing but nourishment. Ask your grocer for Grain-O, the new food drink. 15 and 25c.

TRANSPORT IN SUEZ CANAL.

short way of saying redhot sea. However, you will not suffer from the heat if you make the trip in winter, especially if you go from southward to northward through the Red sea and Suez canal, as I have said.

For me, I shall never in this life make a journey that interests me more than the picturesque passage of the Suez canal did. All day long, with the temperature so high that in the sun the mercury just bobbed up to the top of the thermometer and staid there, and in the shade, in the coolest part of the ship, with a brisk north head wind blowing upon the instrument, it registered 99 degrees.

I could only go from one side of the steamer to the other, looking now at the great, fearful sea of glittering yellow brown sand, now at one of the restful palm and garden embowered canal stations and again at the alternating tracts of sand and water, a ribbon of yellow brown, a ribbon of shining emerald green.

A fresh water canal runs side by side with the salt one to supply the people who live at the stations and signal vessels when they must tie up to the shore and wait for another to pass, for when two ships are to pass each other in this waterway one of them must be stationary. The canal is only 150 feet wide.

Like our own Arizona and southern California, this whole desert ocean has only to be irrigated to blossom and fruit in prodigious abundance. The stations, at intervals of two to five miles apart, are pictures of plenty and prettiness. Graceful, waving date palms, flowers and vegetable gardens smile in the vibrating sunshine, while the domestic live stock of two zones grazes peacefully around. Odd it looks and a little unsettling to the western eye to see handsome dairy cows and Arabian camels chewing in calm meditation upon the same pasture.

The Suez canal is 87½ miles long, from the town of Suez on the south to what I take you for, it will not be so much of the canal returns in dollars and cents that you will be thinking as you glide through this strange, story haunted clime of sky and sand, of desert oasis and green water, of mirage and burning sun. For a week you have been passing regions known and noted in the world's oldest history.

Far to your right as you steamed up the Red sea you beheld, outlined huge and grand in the mystic haze, the sides and top of Mount Sinai. Kantara, 25 miles south of Port Said, is and has been time immemorial the great camel caravan crossing from Syria and Arabia into Egypt. Before the bondage, before the tables of the law were delivered, wild wanderers of the desert, with yellow brown camels, the color of the sands, with women swathed to their eyes in cruel, smothering black drappings, crossed and recrossed the border as they do today here where the nineteenth century man's cable now passes, flashing messages through Syria, through India, through Palestine. These very sands may have been pressed by the feet of Joseph and Mary, bearing their sacred burden of the Blessed Child during the flight into Egypt.

Old Bible tales, long forgotten, roll back in a flood of memory. The splendor of Hebrew romance and poetry dazzles you with a vividness you never knew before. Its spell is on you. Silently, softly, you search in an out of the way corner among your luggage and find a Bible, long neglected, half forgotten, and read once more of the journeyings of ancient peoples, of wells of sweet water and desert visions—if you are what I take you for.

THE MANILA MAIL.

How the Postal System of the Philippines Has Been Americanized.

BY JOHN P. WILLOUGHBY.

The Spanish-American war marked a new point in the era of progress in the postal service of this country and fairly demonstrated that our postal system was able to meet with efficiency and promptness unforeseen exigencies, which in a less thoroughly organized public enterprise would have caused almost endless confusion and perplexity.

It is true that in the first stages of our occupancy of Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines there was some confusion and delay in the transmission of mails, but the promptness with which order was brought out of chaos showed the ability of the postoffice department to grasp and handle the new and complex situation. It was no holiday task to ingraft our progressive notions of postal transmission upon Spain's effete and archaic system.

The readers of newspapers are already quite familiar with the story of our postal operations during the military campaign in the West Indies and the establishment and maintenance of mail facilities in Cuba and Porto Rico since the close of hostilities, though comparatively little has been written regarding the operations in the Philippines and the great obstacles which were encountered in getting anything like an efficient service.

On the 6th of June last year congress passed a bill authorizing the establishment of military postoffices in the Philippines, and Director of Post Frank W. Vaille, with a number of assistants, was dispatched to the orient, going with the transport expedition which left San Francisco on the 15th of June.

Simultaneously with the capitulation of Manila on the 13th of August Director Vaille and his companions established an American postoffice in the old capital of the Philippines. It is related that they entered at the walled city an hour ahead of the United States troops. Before the Spanish flag had fairly been hauled down from the governor's palace the sign "U. S. P. O., Manila," was hung out—if not actually, it was figuratively.

It was the purpose of the new postal authorities to first seize all the postage stamps; but it was discovered that there were none in the office to seize. It was found that under the Spanish system all stamps were sold by an officer corresponding to our collector of internal revenue, at a discount to private individuals, who in turn sold to the public at face value. One of these contractors had a little booth in the rear of the lobby of the postoffice, and when his place was closed, as it very frequently was, the would be purchaser of stamps had to search for them in the small shops.

The whole postal outfit was found to be very crude. There was not such a thing as a letter case for distribution; that is to say, cases with pigeon holes similar to postoffice delivery boxes. Letters were placed in large cupboards on shelves and taken out when dispatch was to be made and sorted on a table. There were four of these cupboards, each with folding doors, with shelves labeled to show what mail they contained.

The boxes for city delivery were arranged around three sides of a quadrangular space, of which the fourth side faced the lobby and had two delivery windows. Every boxholder had issued to him a pasteboard receipt, and this was presented by the party calling for mail.

The general delivery case, with its many little boxes for separation of mail alphabetically, to expedite delivery, is an unknown quality in Manila.

There was a carrier service in connection with the Manila postoffice, but it was of the crudest sort. The carriers were paid no salaries by the government, but depended for a living upon the fees they collected from the recipients of the letters. The usual charge was 2 cents for a letter and 1 cent for a paper. There was an entire lack of system in the delivery, and it is a marvel that any letters ever reached their proper destination.

These were some of the obstacles the American postal officers had to encounter. There was the added complication of conducting the office in two languages. It was found advisable to run two general delivery windows, one for Spanish letters exclusively, and the other for all other classes, in charge of a soldier.

Under the American regime great changes have been made, and the Manila postoffice has been pretty thoroughly Americanized and brought "up to date."

Two Headed Snake.

Dr. John of Philadelphia has found near Darwood, Susquehanna county, Pennsylvania, a two-headed snake. One head was eating a toad, while the other was feasting on a ground mole. It was a specimen of the common chain or "ring" snake. It had the scales characteristic of the species. The specimen measured thirty-four inches from the extremity of the right head to the tip of the tail, while from the left head to the tip of the tail it was slightly longer. The left head and continuation seemed to be the snake proper, and the right-head sort of a graft set in the main trunk. The two-heads were nearly three-quarters of an inch apart, with a fold of skin on each side from the corner of one mouth to the other. This snake had two gullets, which came together so that it was capable of eating with both mouths. The left head was a little larger than the right.

Men Dressmakers.

There were men dressmakers before North. The first celebrity who made his mark in this particular line was Rhomberg, the son of a Bavarian peasant from the neighborhood of Munich. One day in the month of May, 1730, a beautiful equipage was seen driving about Paris with an esquire in the shape of a corset and an open pair of scissors in the middle, painted on the panel of each door. That was Rhomberg's coat of arms, and it told its own tale. He was a genius in his way. He rapidly made a fortune and left his heirs an annual income of £2,000. Under the first empire and the restoration Leroy supplied the dresses of the ladies of the court and the higher nobility from his splendid mansion in the Rue Richelieu.

Decline and Fall of Cornbread.

From the Richmond (Va.) Dispatch: It seems to us that our own people are not the great cornbread eaters they used to be. Batter or eggbread and certain cakes are still in vogue, but the honest and homely corn pone, the corn dodger, and the hoecake are not as popular as they used to be. As for the ash-cake, the cooking of it has become a lost art, almost. We charge this change, in part at least, to the introduction even in most country homes of the modern cooking stove and range. It takes a great big open fireplace and a southern negress, with a red bandanna on her head, to make prime cornbread. Nor will any meal but water-ground meal serve the best purpose. Steam power meal is tabooed.

The Life Plant of Jamaica.

Jamaica possesses a natural curiosity in the shape of the "life plant," which is so called because it is almost impossible to kill it. When a leaf is cut off and suspended in the air by a mere string, it sends out white thread-like roots, and, nourished by the moisture in the air, begins to grow new leaves. Even when pressed within the leaves of a book to be treasured as a botanical specimen it has been known to grow. In fact the only way to make sure of destroying the life of the plant is to burn or boil it.

Latest in Dusting Brushes.

A new dusting brush, just placed upon the market, can be used both as a short brush and as a floor brush. The back has a tubular opening through it, with a hole in the center of the back communicating with the tube. A long handle is thrust through the length and projects at each end, thus permitting of the even wear of the brush at both ends, while the same handle, fixed in the central opening, enables the housewife to use it as a floor brush.

British Parliament.

New York Tribune: In the course of a speech in the House of Commons about a week ago Mr. Augustine Birrell told the members that if they looked into "Russell on Crimes" they would not find "a single crime, however outrageous; a single felony, however shameful; a single misdemeanor, however disgraceful and disgusting, that had not at one time or another been committed by a member of that House."

Blue and Gray.

Whenever the Stonewall Jackson Camp of Confederate veterans, at Staunton, Va., turns out to bury a comrade, as it did recently, a veteran of the civil war who fought on the union side falls in with the procession and participates in the ceremonies. The Grand Army man on such occasions wears his uniform and badges, and he is always treated by the Confederates as a brother.

Model Russian Journal.

The most northern newspaper in the world is published at Hammerstein, Russia. The editorial work is done in a small wooden house roofed with turf. The paper is called the Nordkap, and is published weekly. The news is frequently a fortnight old before it gets to the subscribers. Most subscriptions are paid in fish.

The Carp a Wonder.

People wonder at the mechanism of the human body, with its 492 bones and 60 arteries. But man is simple in this respect, compared with the carp. That remarkable fish moves no faster than 4,386 bones and muscles ever time he breathes. It has 4,320 veins, to say nothing of its 39 muscles.

London's Omnibuses.

London's General Omnibus Company runs 1,300 omnibuses, which carry 190,000,000 passengers a year and run 29,000,000 miles. It owns 15,351 horses and employs 5,000 men. The annual receipts are about $6,000,000.
